

The pot calling the kettle black?

"Quack 'o' Rama: A Collection of Questionable Medical Devices" given to Loma Linda University professor William T. Jarvis in the 80's were on display at Loma Linda University's Heritage Centre in 2017.

I find it fascinating that key faculty members at Loma Linda University (originally the College of Medical Evangelists) have been calling out 'quackery' through Associations such as the National Council Against Health Fraud (NCAHF) founded by William T Jarvis.

Founder of the Institute for Science in Medicine, Adventist Mark B Johnson MD acknowledges playing "a pivotal role in Colorado's resistance to licensure of non-science-based practitioners." He was the co-author of the Physician Competencies in Lifestyle Medicine as President of the American College of Preventive Medicine (ACPM) at the time. Adventists firmly place God as the Author of Science. In fact, man's science means 'placing that which is created above the Creator' which Ellen G White referred to as 'Science, so falsely called.' Science is meant to "prove Inspiration, not disprove it" said Harry Miller MD.

Adventist Health Reform principles are based on the writings of the Spirit of Prophecy, Church founder Ellen G White, who claimed to be told in vision; 'The Garden of Eden diet, consisting of fruit, nuts and seeds, is the God-Appointed diet for man.' Flesh meat, in contrast, is a toxic stimulant as bad, if not worse, than alcohol or tobacco!

The American Council on Science and Health (ACSH) was founded by Fred Stare. The ACSH called itself a "pro-science consumer advocacy organization". Documents uncovered by the US Right to Know tell a different story...

www.isupportgary.com

QUACKERY

Staff and students of Loma Linda University (LLU) have been key members of the National Council Against Health Fraud (NCAHF) & advisors to the American Council on Scientific Health (ACSH) calling out quackery, food faddism & snake oil salesmen. Are they behind labelling of cholesterol deniers, too?

*Professor William T Jarvis Co-founder and president of NCAHF 1977-2000 was also ACSH Advisor, as Professor of Public Health and Preventive Medicine (LLU) in the Schools of Dentistry and Medicine.

* Professor Gordon Rick Co-founder of NCAHF was Chairman of Department of Oral Pathology (LLU)

*Elmer E Kelln Associate Dean of the School of Dentistry (LLU)

*Dr Raymond West Emeritus Professor Family Medicine (LLU)

*Dr. William M London Student MPH (LLU) NCAHF President 2000

<https://www.acsh.org/news/2016/03/15/acsh-advisor-william-jarvis-passes-away-at-80>